
Forest Genomics in the Spotlight at This Year's Marcus Wallenberg Prize Symposium

Description

The Marcus Wallenberg Prize Symposium, held on November 4, 2025, centered around the theme From Tree Genomes to Future Forests.

On stage, this year's laureate, Dr. Gerald Tuskan, was joined by a range of speakers who delivered presentations on forest genomics from scientific, regulatory, and business perspectives.

Click here to revisit the presentations.

Laureate Dr. Gerald Tuskan

Mr. Marcus Wallenberg

Mike Wingfield, moderator

Steve Strauss, Oregon State University

Jessica Polfj rd, EU
Parliament

Dario Grattapaglia,
Research Scientist at Embrapa Genetic
Resources and Biotechnology

Chung-Jui Tsai, University of Georgia

Sanushka Naidoo,
University of Pretoria

Catherine Bastien, INRAE
French National Institute for Agriculture, Food and Environment

Harry Wu, Swedish
University of Agriculture
Sciences

The 3MT Presentation winner
Marina Mehling, The University of British Columbia, Canada